

Irma Day Sports Termed As Best Yet

Everyone heartily agrees that Irma Day, August 1, was the biggest sports day ever held at Irma. A great many folk co-operated to make it a big day and when we are handing out special thanks let's not forget the weather man who gave us a perfect day and kindly kept nature's fire works out of the sky during the evening so we might enjoy the man-made kind for a change.

But to begin at the beginning—there was the big parade at noon. The judges tell us it was even better than last year. The army kindly brought up about a dozen vehicles and about 40 personnel to lead the parade. Invaluable aid was given by the Provost Corps which directed traffic during the day. Following the army units consisting of various army jeeps, cycles, caterpillars, gun carriers, trucks, etc., came the children on decorated cycles, Art Lovig for the Club Cafe, Marian Smallwood in fancy dress and Alan Symington who made a fine cowboy on a bicycle pony.

Then a large float brought the smart appearing and tuncful members of the Dayeland band whose music was much enjoyed all day—wouldn't it be fine to have an Irma band for next year? Right behind the band came the Sharon Young People's float, the Luther League crest on the front and the symbols of The World For Christ at the back.

The Battle River W.I. float was next and had a wonderful array of handicraft displayed to advantage. Then the United Church W.A. entry. The float of this float was shaped like a church steeple and carried the United Church crest with its motto "That they all may be one." Back on the float a W.A. Ladies Aid to us tea and bazaar were in progress.

Three business floats were next in line—Irma Sales and Service, Imperial Lumber Co. and the Irma Co-op. All three were bright, colorful and very neatly designed. Then came two decorated cars driven by A. Halverson and Overt Lovig.

One of P. E. Jones and Sons trucks came next with the ever popular Coulman's orchestra on board. This was followed by the Irma W.I. entry. A beautiful float done in royal blue and white with the W.I. crest in silver and blue on an arch overhead. (We understand that Jean Larson was the artist.) An informal W.I. meeting was in progress on this float. Another lovely blue and white float was the Canadian Girls in Training entry and was one of the most attractive in the parade. Following was the Gratton View Hotel entry showing the beechanallan antics of Hairless Joe, Lonesome Pole Cat and Earthquake McQueen with their satellites from Dogpatch and Skunk Hollow.

This was followed by P. E. Jones model farm. A lot of wonderful detail was displayed here and the very perfect house and barn were the handiwork of our local woodwork wizard Ivan Currie. Mr. Symington's decorated car was next and then came the Grain Club float where an old-fashioned "hoedown" was in progress.

Two more fine business floats were next in line representing J. C. McFarland and Co. and The Irma Food Market, followed by the Irma Pool float decorated car and Wm. Hubman's decorated car which featured a real live Chin-chilla.

Our parade genius Art Knudson had the next exhibit. This time his versatile jeep had become a locomotive. Last year it was a tug boat—guess the darn thing must be amphibious. It was called the Toy Land Express and steamed merrily along towing a float advertising the Arena project. This float was a wonderful piece of fine work and as Art is a man of vision he had here portrayed in minute detail what our sports ground might be developed into in future years.

Jimmy Allen as a clown on his jolly decorated pony was much admired and every farmer's heart was stirred by the wonderful array of self-propelled combines, tractors, swathers, binders exhibited by Messrs. Hurst, Hutchinson and Fuder. Then all eyes were turned on Mr. and Mrs. S. Fenton with a pure bred Hereford heifer.

Last but not least came Mrs. Herbert with her horse and buggy and three horseback riders with fifty little colts tripping along behind them. These equestrians were H. Dootson as an Indian brave, D. Morse as a squaw with papoose, and Joe Rohrer who loyally carried the Canadian flag. The four clowns were C. Jones, C. Smallwood, V. Sampson and Wm. Dootson.

As soon as the parade reached the sports ground, the order of the day. Here are the hardball results:

Hardball won from Provost; Loughheed from Wainwright; Mannville from Irma; Mannville won from Loughheed and Hardisty from Mannville in the finals.

In ladies softball Mannville won from Irma High School.

In the men's fastball, Kinsella won from Albert; Paschendale from Apolomb; Strawberry Plains from Lakeford; Metropolitan from Irma; Kinsella from Apolomb; Strawberry Plains from Metropolitan; Kinsella from Strawberry Plains in the final.

There were several midway attractions and the sports grounds booth did a roaring trade until late in the evening when practically every item was sold out.

A capacity crowd attended the dance at night so that every part of the day's activities was fully patronized. The draw for the pure bred Hereford heifer, donated by Stuart Fenton was made at the dance. Mrs. Art Pierce of Chauvin was the lucky winner.

We understand that the honorable Mr. Robert Fair, Social Credit member for this constituency was a guest at our Irma Day celebration.

As we said before it took the co-operation of a lot of people—busy people—to make our Day an outstanding success and if next year is to be even bigger and better we can't leave it all to 'George' so let's dig in and help them.

Weed Notices

Again the weed inspectors are active in their respective districts locating any weed menaces and encouraging control measures to be commenced. In 1950, I found it necessary to charge a farmer of MD Wainwright under the Weeds Act and he was fined in the local court. This sort of action I wish to point out is contrary to my customary way of handling delinquent farm operators. However it seems the only way to get results some times. Now with 24-D available and its use proven to be effective, there is little or no excuse for allowing THISTLE patches to go to seed. I have instructed the weed inspectors to write orders and to follow them up without fail and this means that after fair warning your case may be subject to court action. I certainly hope this will not be necessary and results will be obtained under happy relationship.

Due to excessive moisture to date some farmers are finding it difficult to get their summer-fallow worked. This condition is quite excusable under the circumstances but still there will be no excuse for letting weeds go to seed as a menace to the community. The majority of crops looks pretty and it would seem more sensible to treat those thistle patches now before the crops get too far advanced than to be forced to mow down good grain later on. Sodium Chloride is also available at this office for treating any Toad Flax patches or other small patches of undesirable weeds. Above all whatever you do try to avoid any unnecessary action on our part.

Southern Sayings

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reber and family accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reber of Hardisty were visitors to Rosalind Sunday and report the crops looking good.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hill and family were away for holidays to Yellowstone Park and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnston and family of Edmonton are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Syd Johnston and Phyllis, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bacon and other relatives and friends of the district for a 2 week holiday.

Strawberry Plains ball team was down to the Wainwright Army Camp and played two games. They won one.

Don't forget the W.I. meeting on August 16. Try to be present as it's very disappointing to only have 5 out of 12 members.

Grain Club Tour Edmonton

On the morning of July 24 Mr. Symington's bus pulled out of Irma at 7 a.m. sharp. Aboard were the Irma Grain Club members along with Mr. Nisson, club leader and Mrs. Jackson, the girls escort. We were Edmonton bound and we arrived at 11:30. Being as we were all hungry we headed for the Royal George Hotel where we had dinner. From there our tour of Edmonton started, our first call being the University campus. We were met there by Mr. Donald Gunn and Mr. Usher. Mr. Usher accompanied us on the complete tour. Mr. Gunn directed us through several of the buildings and through some of the Experimental plots. From there we went to the University farm. There we were met by another guide who explained everything as we went along. By this time we were getting hungry so back we went to the King Edward Hotel for a banquet supper. After supper we drove out to the Exhibition grounds where sleeping accommodation had been arranged. Before we retired for the night some went to a show and some watched figure skating in the Edmonton Gardens.

Wednesday morning we rose at 6:45 and at 7:45 Mr. Symington called for us with the bus and we went to the Royal George for breakfast. Our first call after this was the Parliament Buildings. A guide showed us from the bottom floor right up into the Dome. From here we could get a grand view and saw some of our next ports of call. When everybody was together we Here our guide took us to the top in an elevator and we worked our way down. This we enjoyed very much except for some of the odors we came in contact with. From here we went back to the Royal George for dinner. After dinner we went to the MacLeod Bldg. and went through the seed inspection office. Keeping our appointments right on time was our motto so from here we travelled to the UGG feed mill on the south side. After we had completed our inspection of this we were treated to soft drinks and doughnuts. Then back into the bus and for our final call of the day we headed for the airport. This served as a very good ending for a long day and started us on our way home. We arrived home in Irma at 11 p.m. and were greeted with mud and water.

Card of Thanks

The Irma and District Board of Trade wish to thank all who so willingly gave their time and help to make Irma Day a real success.

Shortage Of Fertilizers

THE IMPORTANCE OF soil conservation is emphasized in almost every country today. The people on this continent were among the first to realize that the soil cannot be productive indefinitely unless some of the elements which the crops take from it are returned by man. There are several ways of preserving the richness of the soil and one of the most important of these is by the use of commercial fertilizers. The production of these fertilizers has become a great industry and they are used widely in every part of the world where crops are grown.

Growing Need In Far East

There is cause for concern, therefore, in the news that there is a serious shortage of fertilizers developing. Mr. G. J. Gallister, of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, who visited Canada recently, stated that although the world's production of commercial fertilizers is high, a shortage of sulphur is preventing an increase in production, which is needed to meet growing demands. There is now increasing need for fertilizers in Asia and the Far East, and present production is not sufficient to meet this growing demand, the United Nations official said. Canada has good supplies just now, he said, but shortages may begin to develop in the coming year.

Supply Less Than Demand

The present situation is due to the serious shortage of sulphur for commercial purposes. The world supply of this important chemical is now estimated to be about 5,570,000 long tons, while 6,000,000 long tons are required to meet the annual need. The impending shortage of sulphur has been anticipated in Canada, and efforts are being made to supplement the world supply from the by-products in the refining of Alberta oil and in tar sands from the Athabasca River. A lack of commercial fertilizers would have a serious effect on world food production at this time, and it is to be hoped that some way may be found of averting this impending shortage.

Doukhobor Leader Dies In Vancouver

VANCOUVER.—Michael, the archangel, Verigin, 68-year-old Doukhobor leader, died here in hospital surrounded by members of the strange religious sect.

In his early days, he had operated a grain elevator near Winnipeg and later was a boarding housekeeper in Vancouver, but after each business venture he returned to the Doukhobors.

Founder of a settlement at Hilliers, B.C., on Vancouver Island, he had been in hospital since July 12. Brought here for an emergency operation, he contracted post-operative pneumonia. He was no relation to Peter (the lordly) Verigin, spiritual leader, killed in a bomb blast at Furon, B.C., in 1924, but had long been a central figure in the turbulent life of the Doukhobors.

THIS PRESCRIPTION IS HARD TO FILL

The Niagara Falls Review says: We came across a prescription the other day that is a good universal medicine for treating all diseases—take three parts of a kind of personal interest and knowledge of human nature of the old-fashioned horse-and-buggy doctor, mix well with one part of the spirit of service and self-sacrifice and apply liberally to the human factor involved in every illness.

Funny and Otherwise

As the train pulled into the station, the porter knocked on a compartment door.

"Chicago," he announced. "Shall I brush you off, madam?" "Certainly not," she replied leily. "I'll descend in the usual way."

A minister told his flock he had a "call" to go to another church. One of the deacons asked how much more he was offered.

"Three hundred dollars," was the reply. "Well, I don't blame you for going," remarked the deacon, "but you should be more exact in your language. Parson, that isn't a 'call,' that's a 'raise'."

"Ye saved me fra' drowning, laddie," said Macpherson, "and I was gladly gae ye a quarter, but I've only a fifty cent piece."

"Never mind about that," replied the rescuer; "jump in again."

"Have any of your family connections ever been traced?" "Yes, they traced an uncle of mine as far as Australia once."

Filling out an application for a job, the clerk answered, "No" to a question as to whether he had dependents.

"Say, you're married, aren't you?" asked the clerk who knew him.

"Oh sure," came the answer, "but my wife ain't dependable."

Jones—"Good evening, old man. Thought I'd drop in and see you about the umbrella you borrowed from me last week."

Brown—"I'm sorry, but I lent it to a friend of mine. Were you wanting it?"

Jones—"Well, not for myself, but the fellow I borrowed it from says the owner wants it."

The old alumnus, at the pre-game rally, was disparaging the skill of modern football players.

"When I was in college," he boasted, "I helped Harvard beat Yale for three years straight."

"Is that so, sir?" queried the quarterback, politely. "And which team were you on?"

Young girl to old man: "Would you like to give me a dollar for the Lord?"

Old man, looking up: "No, I think I'm going to meet Him first, so I'll give Him the dollar myself."

Parishoner: "Ah, Dr. Grimes! How did you like those branded peaches we sent?"

Rector: "My dear Mrs. Vesper, they were indeed delicious; but what we appreciated especially was the spirit in which they were given."

"Last week I lent you $10 for a day."

"So you did. And, boy, what a day!"

Canada Is Now Importing Eggs For First Time

OTTAWA.—Hit by an unusual egg scarcity, Canada, for the first time in her history, is importing thousands of cases of eggs from foreign countries.

More than 2,000,000 dozens have been shipped to this country from the United States and Holland during the last few months. More are expected.

"At no time have I ever witnessed a situation like this," an Agriculture Department official says. "Usually Canada produces enough eggs to export. This year we're importing and we're taking all we can get."

Egg production in Canada is running at about 74,000 cases or about 2,220,000 dozens a week. Her normal needs run to about 80,000 cases or 2,700,000 dozens.

The shortage, the official said, likely will continue until next October or November.

"By that time, Canada should be able to produce all the eggs to meet all of her needs—and even some left over for export." But I doubt very much whether we'll be doing any exporting. Canada likely will store all she doesn't use immediately.

The current egg scarcity developed out of the sudden drop in the export market more than a year ago, the official explained.

In former years, Canada produced about 10 per cent more eggs than she could use. Most of the surplus was taken up by Britain.

In 1949 Britain announced that because of a dollar shortage she would stop buying eggs from Canada. Canadian poultrymen were stunned.

Many began cutting flocks. Others left the business altogether. For a while the egg market sagged. The government was forced to move in with price support.

The poultrymen's fears proved unwarranted and their flock-cutting proved too deep.

But by next fall, said the agriculture official, flocks should be back to almost the 1949 level, producing all the eggs that Canadians can use.

SUMMER SALAD

Fruit and cottage cheese salads are our number one choice for summer salads. To make them taste extra cooling, mold them in gelatin.

Golden Layered Molds
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) plain gelatin, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1½ cups apricot whole fruit nectar, dash salt, 1 cup orange sections, 1 cup cottage cheese, salad greens.

Soften gelatin in lemon juice. Heat nectar and dissolve gelatin in it. Cool thoroughly. To ½ cup of gelatin mixture, add 2 additional tablespoons nectar (or water) and orange sections. Divide among 6 individual molds and chill. Blend cottage cheese into remaining gelatin mixture. When clear layer is firm, spoon cheese mixture over it and chill until cheese layer is firm. Unmold on salad greens. Serves 6.

Airborne Clinic In Northern Manitoba

WINNIPEG.—The first airborne clinic of the Red Cross blood transfusion service in Manitoba is leaving Winnipeg for northern Fort Churchill, Aug. 13.

Two R.C.A.F. Dakotas will carry Red Cross personnel and equipment to the northern Manitoba army base to set up a clinic in the station hospital. Another clinic will be held at The Pas.

One Tourist Who Was Really Lucky

THE PAS, Man.—Honesty of the north was further exemplified at The Pas recently when a leather satchel containing nearly $3,000 lay on a sidewalk outside a hotel beer parlor for three hours without being touched.

The owner, leaving town in a car, had re-arranged the luggage and left the satchel on the pavement when he drove off.

Passers-by ignored it until one finally pointed it out to police constable Pat Shaw, who found it contained $2,875. Its owner was traced and the money shipped to him by express.

When A Thunderstorm Breaks Avoid Open Fields, Stay In Car

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—There's no safe place in a thunderstorm—only some places are safer than others. If you think an open field is safe, or that you'd better turn off the electric switches and the radio, or that lightning rods are no use, listen to Julius H. Hagenguth, General Electric director of the laboratory here which has been making lightning for years.

He says: Avoid open fields. If a surprise thunder shower catches you on the golf course, take shelter in a building. If none is available, you will be safer, though damper and dirtier, lying on the ground.

Why is an isolated tree a bad spot? Because the lightning can jump in the air from the tree to you. Also because the stroke may spread underground where you stand through the roots of the tree.

If you are travelling in an all-metal car, stay inside. If you have to get out, never stand with one foot touching the ground, while the other touches the car. In that position you will make a good conductor for lightning from the car to the ground.

It won't do much good to rush around dousing electric lights and other switches before an electrical storm. Lightning which has jumped 2,000 feet from clouds to ground will not be stopped by the fraction of an inch break in turning off a switch.

During the storm keep away from electrical fixtures, lights, telephones, radios, television sets and other conductors of electricity.

And keep out of the water, especially the bath tub and swimming.

The lightning rod, by directing the stroke, is still man's best protection. The total number of Americans injured and killed annually by lightning is about 2,000.

Plan Special Stamp For Royal Visit

OTTAWA.—The Post Office Department is considering the printing of a special commemorative stamp for the royal tour in October of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, it was learned here.

A spokesman said the Department plans a postal tribute for the occasion. However, one of the difficulties was that, although the Royal visit is some three months away, the time is short for the designing of an appropriate postage stamp.

Therefore the stamp commemorating the Canadian tour may not be issued until the visit is well under way.

Printed music notes were first used in 1473.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

Something New

If George's Wife's Fond Smile Meant Anything Else, It Was Strictly Private Between Them.

By RUSSELL WILSEY

GEORGE RANDOLPH lay staring at the ceiling, his mind hovering of sleep. That Agnes Davidson, George thought, she's the talking-est woman. Now that Jane's got me to buy that television set, I suppose the Davidsons will be dropping in every night. Why the devil did I let Jane take me into the thing?

George's eyes fluttered shut and his mind began to teeter over the brink.

"George!" It was Jane, in a sharp whisper.

"Huh?" George responded sleepily. "Get up! There's somebody downstairs."

Then George heard it too, in the living-room.

George slipped out of bed to the closet. Carefully he lifted out of his closet, reserved for rare days of duck hunting, and chambered a shell. He held the gun in the folds of a suit hanging in the closet as he snatched it with a muffled click.

Moving cautiously, he stepped out into the hall and went to the stairs. There he halted and listened. Then he again heard the footsteps.

Holding his gun ready, George descended. At the bottom step he ran his hand along the wall until he found the light switch. Nothing happened. The room remained in darkness.

Immediately there flashed across George's mind the recent headlines in the papers: "PHANTOM BURGLAR STRIKES AGAIN!" The burglar who unscrewed all the light bulbs so he could escape in the dark.

The man now in the dining-room must have heard the switch. George could sense him moving towards the living-room. The man trickled into George's eyes, and he could feel his pajamas sticking to his back. He bent at the knees and began to creep along the wall.

He came up against a table with a slight bump. His hand ran across a smooth, cool sheet of glass. It was the screen on the television set!

There was something, he thought, that he should remember. Something Jane had told him about. And then he had it. Moving his hand by touch, he found a dial on the set and twirled it as far as it would go to the right.

Then he located another dial, a bigger one, and turned it slowly until it clicked sharply.

From the corner of his eye George caught the sudden movement in the shadows of the arch connecting the living and dining rooms. The burglar was in the room with him now.

The machine hummed softly first. Then a weird line ran across the screen. It blossomed into a soft but strong light that filled the room. George caught a brief picture of the burglar's surprised face as he squeezed the trigger.

With the wounded robber in hospital and police hands, George told the story over and over.

"Mr. Randolph," the sergeant asked, holding his notebook, "would you mind going over it again? I don't think I got it exactly straight."

"Not at all," George answered with a smile. "When I found I couldn't turn the lights on, I remembered our new television set. You see this knob here? It regulates the amount of light you get on your screen. When you turn it up as strong as it'll go, you get enough light to fill up the room. That's just what I did. I turned this knob all the way over, and then I reached over here to this big one and turned it too. That turns on your juice. Bingo! I let the poor guy have it before he knew what hit him."

Basking in the admiration of his clustered neighbors, George beamed again. "Yes, sir," he said, "this science is a wonderful thing. It's lucky I decided to go out and get one of these gadgets."

If his wife's fond smile meant anything else, it was strictly private between them.

A pilot gunnery school at McDonald, Man., and a navigation school at Winnipeg, already have been opened.

Manitoba Farmer Sets Record For Harvesting Oats

GOODLANDS, Man.—Alton Gervin, who farms in the Goodlands district of southwestern Manitoba, probably set a record for early harvesting in Manitoba when he swathed a large field of oats on July 23.

A Manitoba Wheat Pool official in Winnipeg said that "lacking any record of the earliest date in which harvesting of oats has started, Mr. Gervin has established a record in my opinion."

The earliest previous record on Manitoba department of agriculture books was July 24, 1896.

Finance Minister Has Huge Surplus

OTTAWA.—The federal government, budgeting for a 1951-52 surplus of $30,000,000, piled up a surplus of $38,445,137 in the first three months of the fiscal year.

The monthly treasury report, issued by the office of Finance Minister Abbott, showed that revenues totalled $886,738,008 and expenditures $530,293,451 in the three-month period.

In 1950-51, Mr. Abbott budgeted for a surplus of $15,000,000 and wound up with one of $308,456,000.

The watermelon is thought to have originated in Africa.

Coal Still Important

DRUMHELLER, Alta.—Hon. George Prud'homme, federal minister of mines and technical surveys, said in this oil-rich province that coal still has a big place in the fuel field.

In a speech to the Drumheller chamber of commerce, he said "coal must remain the foundation of any long-term industrial growth in this province. In the west, and in Canada as a whole."

Wife Of Indian Chief Active In Education Group

CALGARY.—Mrs. David Crowchild, wife of Sarcee Indian Chief David Crowchild, is the first and only Indian woman appointee member of the school education committee of the Canadian Home and School Parent Teacher Association.

Because it is the dream of Indians that some day there will be equal educational opportunities for all Indian and white children, Chief and Mrs. Crowchild have been active in S.S.A. affairs.

They were first introduced to the Home and School Association about five years ago when their son, Gordon, was a student in Calgary.

When the people explained to us how it worked, we joined and we have been members ever since," she said.

Chief Crowchild started a H.S.A. at the Sarcee Indian School last year—the first Indian Home and School Association in Canada. Mrs. Crowchild is treasurer of the branch.

Mrs. Crowchild is a well-educated woman who speaks English fluently. In fact English is the only language spoken in the Crowchild home. The children, four boys and a girl, know practically no Indian.

In her spare time Mrs. Crowchild makes buckskin jackets, coats and moccasins for sale.

Her work earned her the distinction of being one of the few Canadian citizens who have received a letter from Princess Elizabeth.

"I made a pair of white beaded baby buckskin moccasins for Prince Charles when he was born," she said. "I didn't think the Princess would accept them but I sent them anyway. She kept them and sent me a nice letter."

Mrs. Crowchild was one of many Indians attending the Calgary Stampede. She was asked if she minded the crowds of visitors to the Indian village.

"No I don't notice them," she said, "but some of them are very rude."

"They keep peeking into the teepees when we are eating or getting dressed to go out."

White people would call the police if an Indian opened the door of their home and looked in.

The college degree as a university distinction originated at Bologna and Paris during the 12th century and the titles "master" and "doctor" at that signified nothing more than a license to teach.

Angler Has Hard Time Explaining His Casual Joke

HUDSON BAY, Sask.—A local fisherman lent his reel to a friend. But on the first cast the reel fell out of his friend's hands into 10 feet of water.

The host decided to fish it out with a rake. As he did, a night watchman at a nearby mill was an interested spectator.

"What you doing?" asked the watchman.

"Fishing," said the angler.

"They bite on that?" asked the watchman, eyeing the rake.

"They bite on anything," said the angler.

The watchman shook his head and walked away.

The story spread, and now the angler is having trouble convincing his friends he isn't crazy.

Orchestra In Swift Current Is Different

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask.—An old aluminum teapot and a pile of old pop bottles are the mainstay of Swift Current's unique "Bottle Blowers" Orchestra.

They aren't a commercial music-producing aggregation, but 27 school pupils whose principal, Kenneth Aberdeen, thought a pop-bottle orchestra would be an economical method of teaching his pupils music and physics.

Using small medicine bottles, ordinary-size pop bottles, and quart-size pop bottles (the "bass" section) for accompaniment, the youngsters supplement the musical group with tinnyettes, an auto harp, drum, and a set of jellied bells.

Each bottle is filled with colored water to a different level, producing a musical note when the player blows into the top of the bottle.

The bottles are tuned to the school piano before each performance, the "timers" using a water-filled teapot to fill the instruments to the right level.

Saskatchewan's school supervisor of music, R. J. Staples, calls the "bottle blower" one of the most remarkable orchestras he has ever heard.

Bull Calf Made Perfect Landing In Ski-Jump

OSLO, Norway.—The little town of Frederikstad in southern Norway reported what is believed to be the first successful ski-jump ever made by a bull calf.

The calf wandered to the top of the well-known Oeya ski-jump, took a good look around, sat down on his haunches and shot down the 40-foot long run.

Tallying, the calf made a perfect landing and walked away.

Replacing Rev. M. Revington as the Minister of the Bonnyville, Cold Lake United Church is Rev.
John Wing, B.A.

Mr. Wing is a Canadian born Chinese who was raised at Kam-loops, B.C. His university training was taken at Victoria University from where he graduated in 1948 with his B. A. degree. Following this he entered Emmanuel College also in Toronto to take the ological course for the ministry of the United Church.

The Alliance Times says—
In one of the worst hail storms ever witnessed by many in this district, a severe hail storm broke in the Alliance district around 8 p.m. Saturday, July 28, causing damage in varying degrees of 25 to 100 per cent loss. The storm was reported to have started west of Ponoka, worked its way east through Heister, Merna and Flagstaff and petered out near Amisk.
At Heister, it is reported that a few hailstones were as big as base balls and caused extensive damage to late model cars, store windows, crops, etc.

The Castor Advance says—
On Sunday while Mr. Dave Bradshaw was working under his car, the jack collapsed and pinned him under the car. He was able to call for Mrs. Bradshaw before he lost consciousness and she had to go across the road to an empty house to phone the Halletts for help.

The St. Paul Journal says—
The St. Paul Park, commonly referred to as the Community Park, will take on new prestige, Monday, August 6, when it will be renamed "Park St. Laurent" in commemoration of the historical visit of the distinguished personage of The Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Prime Minister of Canada. Short dedication ceremony on arrival to the park will be performed by Mr.
St. Laurent himself.

The Sedgewick Press says—Familiar tunes such as "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky" and "Pennies from Heaven" are being whistled by Village Councils these days following the receipt of "share the wealth" cheques from the Alberta government. These, I am given to understand, were mailed out to Towns and Villages in the province which were able to lower their mill rates. Apparently towns along this line were able to do so for all received payments ranging from $1200 to $3000 depending on the total town assessment.

The Holden Herald says—Mrs. C. Nolan and children and Mrs. Ken Stambaugh and children have cottages at Lakeview for the

A Farm Storage Tank
Makes Dollars and Sense

Like many other sound investments, a farm storage tank more than pays for itself in dollars. Here is why—it makes sense!

1. Helps Prevent 75% of Fuel Troubles—Proper storage and handling is most important. For cleaner fuel, raise the nozzle end of the storage tank to allow any sediment to accumulate at the lower end where it can be removed.
2. Prevents Waste—Fuel is easily spilled or left in the bottom of a barrel whether you use a pail or a pump. With a storage tank gravity hose there is little or no waste.
3. Lessens Fire Hazards—Gasoline in a farm building creates a serious fire hazard. A storage tank located some distance from farm buildings complies with fire insurance regulations.
4. Convenient and Time Saving—Fill your engine fuel tank with a gravity hose. In busy seasons your fuel is there when you need it. There is little deterioration in quality during the winter or between busy seasons if your tank is full.
